Slate

FOR AIROPS CUSTOMERS

AirOps shows you where you stand in AI search. Slate tells you what to fix, then fixes it.

Slate tracks your visibility across six AI engines, picks the pages that matter most this week, ships the fixes to your CMS and runs outreach to the sites AI engines cite. Strategists come with every plan.

WHERE SLATE GOES FURTHER

A copilot that gives direction

Ask what to work on and get a ranked list of the fixes most likely to lift visibility, drawn from your own data. AirOps' copilot is built to edit workflows.

Fixes that get published

Every page is scored on 10 dimensions (evidence, structure, freshness, schema, entities and more). Slate writes the fix and publishes it to WordPress, Webflow or HubSpot.

Outreach is built in

Find the third-party sites ChatGPT and Perplexity cite for your category, get the contacts and run the campaign in Slate. You don't need a separate outreach tool.

Strategists included

Our GTM engineers build custom workflows with your team, and quarterly strategy reviews are part of the plan. You get the software and the people who know how to use it.

Your models, no token markup

Each task is routed to the best fit from 30+ models. You can also bring your own Anthropic or OpenAI key and pay the provider directly.

Works inside Claude

Slate MCP brings your brand context, data and publishing into Claude and into the agents you've already built.
